Part One Answer

You must write within the grey lines.

Young People are ~~the~~ so diverse from each other. But most of the time they tend to spend their time on Screens. It's a source of entertainment for them. There are so many ways to entertain yourself, for example you could read books instead of watching Screens. Books have been in this world for thousands of years, before Screens the book was your only source of entertainment. Screens have a strong impact on young people because there is something to watch for every topic and it can be very addictive. Unlike books Screens are considered far more superior than books. In my opinion there are still young people are there who could entertain themselves without Screens. My idea is you can't put the idea of quitting Screens into the young people's minds. They don't like getting controlled by others, so it's our best to let them choose what they want to do.

Part Two Answer

Hi Tom,

About the questions you have asked, I think I have some answers to them. First of all, Be cool & don't be pressured or stressed by the matter. When you become stressed it's harder to focus on collage work. What you need to do is finish collage and go work in shifts in that way you could work at both jobs at the same time. In the morning you will be a journalist at ~~mid~~ noon you will be working at your family's restaurant. Now getting the job is the most tricky part, when you apply for a job as a journalist you specifically need to state that you will be working on the morning shift only. and if they agree you won't be bumping into problems. Have fun at collage I'll see you when I'm coming for you

You must write within the grey lines.
