Life is better today than it was 100 years ago.

Imagine travelling back in 100 years.
No smartphones, no internet, even a small cold could be deadly. Honestly, I'm lucky to be in a technologically developed era which we can do nearly anything with the use of technology.

First of all, the health sector has improved significantly. A century ago medical treatments were very primitive and limited and many viruses have been fatal without any vaccines and well-developed machines and equipments. But today, we have highly developed hospitals with the use of technology. Even at present, we ~~are~~ diagnose some diseases with the use of Artificial Intelligence, which lead many people to live much longer and healthier lives.

Furthermore, the entertainment has transformed completely. In the past the people played board games, read books or attended to opera houses to watch a classic opera to entertain themselves rather than playing video games, ~~addre~~ or hanging on social media the whole day.
And also we can watch a film or access millions of songs instantly from our living room, which we ~~are~~ never get bored compared to past.

In addition to this, modern transportation has made the world much smaller. ~~100~~ years ago, travelling to another country took months by ship. Today, we ~~can~~ go on a plane and be on any place of the earth by just a few hours.

In conclusion, while the past ~~had~~ <sup>was</sup> simple, ~~charm~~, I believe the life is superior and much better now. Development in healthcare, leisure and transport has made our lives safer and easier.
