

The Ghost

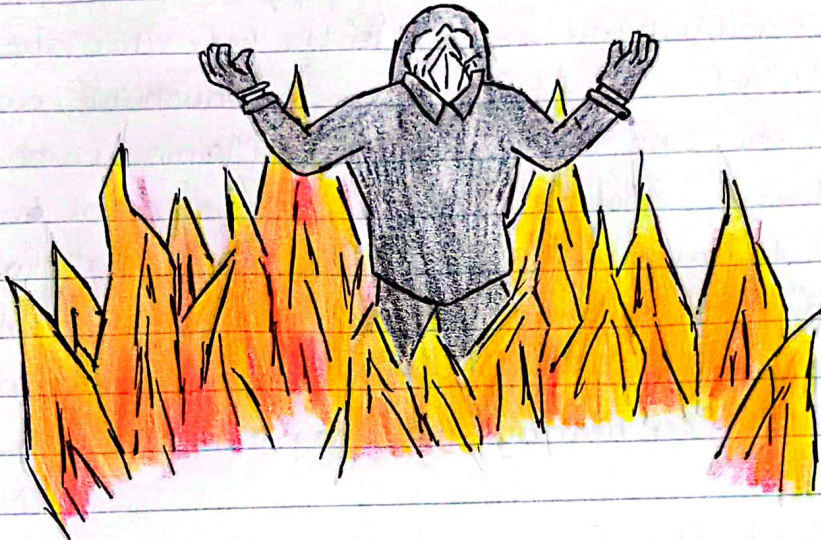

Through The Field

There was a man in early 90's. The village that he lived was a peaceful place. But after he went to the village, things changed. He was crazy and he likes to kill people. He had a huge farm. All the dirty work he did was in his farm. People that lived in the village were started to wonder, why the people are missing day by day.

One night a man saw the killer kidnapping another man. Then the man followed the killer until the killer went to his farm. Then he saw the kidnapped man was getting murdered brutally. He was screaming for his life. The scream ended with a one choke to his neck by the killer.

The man who was watching the murder started running to a bar. He told everything that he saw to the people. After hearing that they made a solution. They decided to burn the whole farm. And they did it that night. The killer died but his soul lived on.

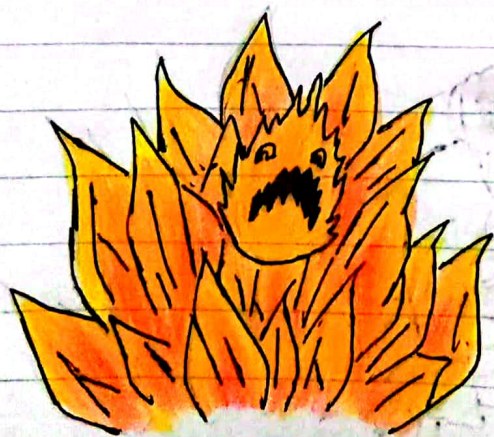

Time passed and that village started to become deserted. After a few years, a family came to the farm to spend rest of their lives. They build a house, they rebuilt the farm again. They liked their lives very much. But not for long, the ghost was waiting for the perfect time to rise. One day the woman saw a 7 foot man standing middle of the field looking at her. He had a pumpkin for his head and he was wearing a ripped coat and ripped pants. He was holding a chain with a hook.

She got scared. She ran in to the house while screaming. She told his husband that everything she saw. The husband immediately took his gun and searched everywhere in the farm. There was nothing in the farm. He didn't take it seriously. She saw the creepy man every day. One night, she saw a terrible dream. She saw that her husband's head was hanged on a hook by the creepy man. She woke up scared and saw that her husband was not on the bed. When she went into the kitchen to get a flashlight, she saw her husband eating a piece of cake. Then she said "Aah, he's fine." Morning came. Suddenly, an old woman started shouting saying, "if you want to save your lives you have to leave that farm." The family went near the old woman and asked "What's the problem". The old woman told everything about the killer. The family got scared. The old woman said that "fire is his weakpoint". After hearing that, they decided to burn the farm.

Night came. They patrolled around the farm and then, they waited for the ghost to come. Suddenly the ghost appeared. The ghost started walking towards this family. They tried to light matches, but even one of them didn't light. The ghost only had a short distance to reach them. At the last moment, one match lit. They quickly threw that match on patrol. The farm started to burn. The ghost began to howl in a very ugly way while burning.

They were very happy. After a few years, they bought a house in another land and lived happily.

The End !!!