

Kingdom of Zombies

First this started in an old science laboratory. There was an ancient science lab in the forest which more ruins. In this there was a dead body and lots of portions. In a rainy day a portion fell on the dead body and it turned into a zombie.

People in the village believed that there were ghosts in the forest. So no one went into the forest. But one day a man went into the forest to look for some medicine. He met the zombie from the science lab. The two had a fight. In the end, the man had to surrender to the zombie. Then the man turned into a zombie.

Little by little, the people who sometimes came to the forest were turned into zombies. They also went to the village and turned the villagers into zombies. Some people killed themselves out of fear of zombies. Even dying people eventually become zombies.

After that zombies went to the city and turned the all people to zombies too. After many years, there were only Zombies in that country, not a single person. In the end, that country became a kingdom of zombies.

H.R. Dulnitha Sanuth

Galle